

Nominations for Forestry Executive Committee Member-at-Large Positions

In keeping with the College's commitment to further diversify the perspectives represented by Forestry Executive Committee (FEC) members, nominations are sought for two member-at-large positions on the FEC. The specifics are as follows:

Position responsibilities:

Members-at-large are full members of the FEC. They are expected to participate in FEC meetings, contribute to FEC discussions and decision-making, and take the lead on FEC agenda items and projects as appropriate. The FEC typically meets twice monthly (3-4 hours per meeting) with an occasional special meeting or retreat to focus on a crucial issue (e.g., budget).

Eligibility:

Nominees must be tenured, full professors. They should be individuals who will bring diverse ideas, insights, and opinions to the FEC.

Term of office¹:

First position – one year

Second position – two years

Members-at-large can be reappointed annually at the Dean's discretion following completion of their initial appointment.

Compensation:

Each member-at-large will be allocated $5,000 per annum for graduate student support, student wages or other discretionary expenses (e.g., travel).

Nomination process:

Nominations should be sent to Rose Lacey by August 14, 2006. Self nominations are encouraged. Please provide a brief description of why the nominee is qualified to be a member of the FEC including how they will add ideas, insights, and perspectives not currently represented on the FEC.

Selection process:

The Dean will select FEC members-at-large.

Additional information:

If you would like more information, contact Steve Hobbs (7-8477).

¹ Note: The goal is to stagger initial appointments for continuity. Terms will normally be for two years.
