

FES Seminar Series, Fall 2009

Seminars are scheduled for Wednesdays from 2:00-3:00 RH 313, except where noted*.

- Sept 1 Anita Morzillo, Post doc, EPA. 11:00 AM Lecture Training Room, EPA Lab.* "Drivers of environmental sustainability using a case study of possible non-target rodenticide effects on wildlife in California"
- Sept 21 Robert Kennedy, Faculty Research Associate, "Uncovering dynamic landscapes: Emerging patterns and new research questions drawn from the satellite image record"
- Sept 30 Jo Albers, Associate Professor, "How Big Should Parks Be? Landscape Values, Human Behavior, Markets, Manager Objectives, and Ecology."
- October 7 Bryan Black, Assistant Professor Senior Research, "Growth increments, climate, and interrelationships among diverse ecosystems of the Pacific Northwest."
- October 14 Dave Turner, Associate Professor Senior Research, "Investigating the terrestrial carbon cycle at regional, continental, and global scales"
- October 21 Katja Behnke, PhD Candidate, "The role of isoprene in stress tolerance of trees: Results from transgenic studies in poplar"
- October 28 Lisa Ganio, Associate Professor, "Arguing from the Specific to the General : Lessons Learned in the Trenches of Research"
- November 4 Brad Withrow-Robinson, Extension Assistant Professor, "Changing Woodland Succession in Oregon"
- November 11 Badege Bishaw , Director SNR Graduate Program, and Paul Doescher, Director, Natural Resources Program. Natural Resources at OSU – interdisciplinary programs within the department.
- November 18 Matt Betts, Assistant Professor, "Animal movement at multiple scales: toward a behavioral global ecology"
- November 25 No seminar
- December 2 Dede Olson, PNW FSL, "Amphibians and climate change"
- December 9 Jillian Gregg, US EPA, "Impacts of diurnal temperature range on ecosystem carbon balance: an experimental test in grassland mesocosms"

*11:00 AM Lecture Training Room, EPA Lab.